

INVESTOR FACT SHEET

Angeion Corporation

Third Quarter 2006

Profile

Angeion Corporation (Nasdaq: ANGN) through its subsidiary Medical Graphics Corporation designs, manufactures and distributes non-invasive cardio-respiratory diagnostic systems for medical and fitness management purposes.

MedGraphics

MedGraphics' patented technology has been used by heart and lung specialists for more than 20 years in the diagnosis and treatment of asthma, emphysema, congestive heart failure and other conditions. These products are sold internationally through distributors and in the United States through a direct sales force that targets hospitals, clinics and physicians' offices.

New Leaf

REAL RESULTS. TRUE HEALTH.

New Leaf Health and Fitness products, many of which are derived from Medical Graphics core technologies, help consumers improve overall fitness and manage weight. New Leaf products are marketed primarily to health and fitness centers through a direct sales force. These fitness products provide a personalized exercise plan based on an assessment of the individual's level of fitness and metabolism, which is measured and correlated to the heart rate while exercising.

There are currently more than 3,000 installed MedGraphics and New Leaf systems in more than 75 countries around the world.
